It happens as we get older and our families leave us, and partners pass away. For people with sight loss, that isolation is all the more painful to bear.

It's not just about losing other people though, it's also about being isolated inside yourself when you are unable to carry out tasks such as going to the shops or even pick up a phone to speak to a friendly voice. For those who can't see, it often leads to losing your self-belief, and – even worse – your sense of belonging.

THAT'S WHY WE NEED YOUR SUPPORT NOW.
